

From time to time, cyclists inquire about the rules and regulations regarding riding on the road in cities and towns in Baldwin County. It's complicated, read on.

BCT encourages everyone cycling in their community or cycling on vacation to consult with that particular municipality about the local safe cycling laws. This is because the individual municipalities have different local laws within their jurisdictions.

Most of the time these local laws do not reflect the state statutes in the Alabama Code and are often in conflict with the state statutes. Communities within Baldwin County are not consistent with each other or with the state statutes.
